PRESIDENT'S PATTERN

Breast Cushions

Thanks to everyone who managed to come to the last breast cushion working bee namely Sandra, Bev Farley, Margaret Casey and Jill Hedley who popped in briefly bringing cushions she had sewn at home. We managed to complete 12 cushions which we certainly needed following SOS from Princess Alexandra Hospital and Greenslopes. We managed to provide cushions for the Mater and PAH, thanks to delivery arrangements by Sandra. I have advised Roz Kinder, who had the call from Greenslopes, that we would have difficulty supplying all three hospitals in the future. With our smaller numbers it is difficult to keep up a monthly quote of around 30 cushions.

AGM

Tonight is the Annual General Meeting and it will be difficult to present all reports, especially our treasurers report at the moment. I am sure Karen will have the up-to-date monthly accounts but there will be a delay in having the report ready for the auditors.

Entertainment Books:

Still some books available for just $60 each with the club earning $12 for each book sold. Please see Jill to get your copies as they are limited in numbers this year.

Club News:

The Purcell family are off again with son Darren selected to represent Australia at the International Rowing Meet in Europe. Our very own awesome foursome?

Post Convention

Have had an interesting email from Beulah Casten informing us that Miluska Vrazakova the President of Zonta Club PRAHA Bohemia, Czech Republic will be in Brisbane for a few days after the Convention in late June. This is the club that Brisbane East has supported in the past through former member Glenda Page. We provided material and financial support to these Zontians who although professional women were finding it difficult to set up a Zonta Club. Depending on the date, I am hoping a few members, particularly the long serving members might be available for a dinner/morning tea to meet this Zontian.

Bronwyn has offered her home if there is time for a dinner. All will depend on the time.

Christmas

It is also time to put on thinking caps as to what we will do for our Christmas function. Any ideas would be gratefully received by the C&PR committee. Also whether we will support another refuge or organization with personal care items as we have done in the past? All ideas gratefully received.

June Meeting

Because of the long weekend in June our Dinner Meeting will be a week early on the 5th June. Please make a note of the change and advise Jill if you cannot make this meeting.

Baby News

Well at last I have a grand daughter... After FIVE grand sons (all great boys) Bridgene Ann was born on 27 April weighing 11 pounds. Family doing well.

1991, Aung San Suu Kyi
1992, Rigoberta Menchú Tum
1997, Jody Williams
2003, Shirin Ebadi
2004, Wangari Maathai

The Nobel Peace Prize for 2003 was awarded to Shirin Ebadi for her efforts for democracy and human rights. She has focused especially on the struggle for the rights of women and children.

As a lawyer, judge, lecturer, writer and activist, she has spoken out clearly and strongly in her country, Iran, and far beyond its borders. She has stood up as a sound professional, a courageous person, and has never heeded the threats to her own safety.

Her principal arena is the struggle for basic human rights, and no society deserves to be labelled civilized unless the rights of women and children are respected. In an era of violence, she has consistently supported non-violence. It is fundamental to her view that the supreme political power in a community must be built on democratic elections. She favours enlightenment and dialogue as the best path to changing attitudes and resolving conflict.

Ebadi is a conscious Muslim. She sees no conflict between Islam and fundamental human rights. It is important to her that the dialogue between the different cultures and religions of the world should take as its point of departure their shared values.

In 2004 the Nobel Peace Prize went to Wangari Maathai for her contribution to sustainable development, democracy and peace.

Peace on earth depends on our ability to secure our living environment. Maathai stands at the front of the fight to promote ecologically viable social, economic and cultural development in Kenya and in Africa. She has taken a holistic approach to sustainable development that embraces democracy, human rights and women's rights in particular. She thinks globally and acts locally.

Maathai stood up courageously against the former oppressive regime in Kenya. Her unique forms of action have contributed to drawing attention to political oppression - nationally and internationally. She has served as inspiration for many in the fight for democratic rights and has especially encouraged women to better their situation.

Maathai combines science, social commitment and active politics. More than simply protecting the existing environment, her strategy is to secure and strengthen the very basis for ecologically sustainable development. She founded the Green Belt Movement where, for nearly thirty years, she has mobilized poor women to plant 30 million trees. Her methods have been adopted by other countries as well. We are all witness to how deforestation and forest loss have led to desertification in Africa and threatened many other regions of the world - in Europe too. Protecting forests against desertification is a vital factor in the struggle to strengthen the living environment of our common Earth.

Through education, family planning, nutrition and the fight against corruption, the Green Belt Movement has paved the way for development at grass-root level. We believe that Maathai is a strong voice speaking for the best forces in Africa to promote peace and good living conditions on that continent.

Wangari Maathai will be the first woman from Africa to be honoured with the Nobel Peace Prize. She will also be the first African from the vast area between South Africa and Egypt to be awarded the prize. She represents an example and a source of inspiration for everyone in Africa fighting for sustainable development, democracy and peace.
