President's Message

When our speaker for the July meeting cancelled at the last minute it was "Oh No!" but an hour and numerous phone calls later and Valerie Silver from DV Connect very kindly agreed to be our last minute guest. I think I would be speaking for everyone in saying that Valerie gave a full on, inspirational and informative talk about her work dealing with victims of domestic violence. Whilst we know that it exists, it takes someone like Valerie to make us realize that we need to continue to support financially those organisations that are at the organisational level of this misfortune.

Does everyone agree that our newsletter is exceptional! Thanks Anthea. You are doing a great job!

Whilst I was wandering through national parks in Cape Tribulation, I was aware that many hands were sewing and stuffing breast cushions at Kay's home. Thanks to those ladies who attended once again. Our breast cushion sewing days and birthing kit assembly days are important social functions for our members, particularly for new members. If you know anyone who would like to help, even if they aren't a member, please don't hesitate to bring them along.

Our next fundraising day is the Sausage Sizzle at Bunnings on the Exhibition holiday, Wednesday 12th August. This event will raise well in excess of $1000 so thanks to those who have put their names down to help.

Regards,

Lorraine Hunter

Service Committee Report

By all accounts, the Breast Cushion day on July 19th was a great success with a wonderful turnout of club member. A big thank you to Kay for opening her home for the event and to all those who gave their time for the day – I will list all attendees in the dinner meeting minutes.

I attended a meeting with 'QUT Equity Director' Mary Kelly regarding the proposed Bursary/Scholarship last week.

Mary was a fountain of information and provided me with a report presented by her department re: the success attached to provision of monetary assistance to poverty stricken students. I will share parts of this document at the dinner meeting.

Delivery of bedding was made to Hand-i-Home last Tuesday. The residents were just delightful and so eager to display their rooms, artwork, doll collections etc. I stayed for afternoon tea, chatted to everyone, took a few photos and thoroughly enjoyed the visit. It is wonderful to see mentally and physically disabled people living in their own small home community, obviously assisted, but still with a level of independence.

Last Wednesday, Jebb House received the first installment of

SAUSAGE SIZZLE

This is our next big fundraising event. There is a roster for the day but the more helpers the better. So, if you can, come along to...

donations for this Zonta year. Three kitchen utility sets, 8 towels, 10 single bed sheet sets, 2 single bed quilt covers and 8 craft packs were most appreciated by the staff. Vicki Bell sources all the items for the Kitchen Utility packs and manages to put together quality packs at bargain prices – thanks Vicki! The coordinator of Jebb House requested small craft packs, such as long stitch, cross stitch and embroidery packs, so that the women may join together for a little craft and relaxed communication time. I was surprised to find out that Jebb House has a maximum stay time of 8 weeks – it is amazing what has to be done within such a short time frame and with such limited resources, especially now with the rental property shortage and increased costs of rental. It is an uphill battle and one which needs all the support it can get!

Well, that's just about it for my busy Zonta month....

Island Linda has decided to join the Club starting September.

The other guest at the July meeting was Cheri. She enjoyed the meeting but wanted to take some time considering whether she will join. I will keep in touch with Cheri and hope that she will become a member before long.

CLUB FELLOWSHIP IN SERVICE

One of our newer members Glynnis also came to the sewing bee – it was lovely to see her there and have a chat. There was a really good turn out of members in high spirits and it was a most enjoyable and happy day.

MEMBER'S PROFILE

Despite her busy life as Principal of the Dayboro School Glynnis has taken the time to provide her profile for which I am very grateful. I won't say the profiles "keep getting better" because we have had a very long run of super ones, but I do say we are very fortunate to have so many interesting women in our Club willing to share something of themselves with us, and I know you will enjoy getting to know Glynnis a little better through her profile. Glynnis is an ex-member of the Bundaberg Club and has decided to serve on the United Nations Committee in our Club, which I am sure will please Joyce and Anthea, the current members of the United Nations Committee.

Looking forward to seeing you all at the August meeting.

discussion and necessary recommendations.

On a more global level,

UNIFEM Executive Director Inés Alberdi on 30th July signed on to the United Nations Seal the Deal campaign, joining a number of UN agencies and organizations that are encouraging governments to reach effective global climate agreement in Copenhagen this December. She stressed that women are often on the frontlines of environmental change and frequently the first to face impacts on their livelihoods. However, as farmers, entrepreneurs, managers of household resources, scientists and politicians, women are equally poised to drive positive change and contribute to a global response.

Mrs Alberdi is in Australia this month to help celebrate 20 years of UNIFEM in Australia.

MEMBER PROFILE

Glynis Gartside

I grew up in Kedron on the north side of Brisbane in the 1950s and 60s attended Cherside State School, Brisbane Girls Grammar School and Kedron Park Teachers College. My sister Bronwyn and I lived with our parents, who were also both born in Queensland, in a family very typical of the post war baby boom.

My first year of teaching was at Kedron State School in 1971 and when at the end of that year I was transferred to Dayboro State School I thought I was doing my country service in a very desirable location. A transfer to Aramac during the Christmas holidays after a year at Dayboro taught me about real country service. After two years in the west I returned to Brisbane to Petrie Terrace State School, bought a house in Paddington and settled into a comfortable life in inner city Brisbane.

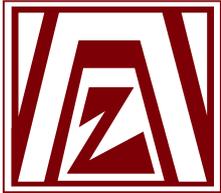

After ten years at Petrie Terrace and a year on exchange in Alberta Canada I was encouraged by the first female Principal I had worked with to apply for promotion. In 1987 I was appointed Principal of Mt Sylvania State School in the Lockyer Valley. Subsequent promotions took me to Bundaberg, where I was Principal of Alloway and Burnett Heads State Schools.

In 2003 I married my long term partner Fred, (also a school principal), and at the end of that year moved from Bundaberg back to Brisbane to Fred's home in Ashgrove. Renovations to the house followed to turn Fred's house into our house. We were gypsies for seven months living all over Brisbane as I reacquainted myself with a very changed city. At this stage I was Principal of Coopers Plains State School. In one of our house-sitting jobs we cared for two poodles, Muffin and Twinkle, who we subsequently adopted. They have us out walking at 5.30am every morning and never fail to give us a wonderful welcome when we return home in the afternoon.

In 2007 when the Principal position at Dayboro State School was advertised, I couldn't resist the temptation to throw my hat in the ring to bring my career in a full circle. I was lucky enough to be successful and have just completed my second year at Dayboro. While the school had grown from 5 to 14 teachers in my 35 year absence, the lovely community-feel of the school and the beautiful natural setting remain the same.

As a teacher I have always been convinced of the power of education to provide opportunities for students from all backgrounds and social strata. I believe teachers are extremely influential in the lives of the young, and positive relationships between students and teachers produce the best results. I am proud to work in the public education system. Throughout my career I have been involved in furthering opportunities for women and girls within education. I have also been an active member of the Queensland Teachers Union believing that improving conditions for teachers strengthens our profession and makes it a more desirable career choice.

Aside from work I enjoy golf and tennis, playing both games with more enthusiasm than skill, and for the social aspect. Fred and I travel at every opportunity. This September we are taking some long service leave and going back to Britain to visit Fred's Mum via Alberta, New York and Zurich. We will catch up with friends in each of the places we visit. I'm looking forward to hiking in the Rockies with friends whom I first met while on exchange in Canada in 1985.

at the end of 2003. I joined Zonta because I was keen to be involved in their service projects for women, both in the local community and on the global scene. I also always appreciated the opportunities membership gave to meet women in other professions and in business and to hear their opinions and perspectives on life, because teaching can be a little insular at times. My decision to rejoin Zonta came after a discussion with a friend from Bundaberg made me realize that I missed the opportunities Zonta provided to make a difference to the lives of other women. In the Bundaberg Club held various positions including Board member, Minutes Secretary and Parliamentarian and I was on about five different committees over the years. I am happy to try anything new. After all it's all about being of service.

My Zonta Information:

I was a charter member of the Zonta Club of Bundaberg in 1990 and stayed in the club until I transferred to Brisbane
