

ZONTA SAYS NO.

Zonta International has been fighting in women's corner for almost 100 years and the Zonta Says No! campaign with 16 days of activism is the latest in initiatives to help achieve a world free of violence against women through service and advocacy.

Until December 10, communities will see Zontians in the streets wearing orange T shirts to emphasise the message.

President Julie Bevan said one of the most important messages of our time was that women's rights should be human rights.

The Zonta Club of Blackall Range will be seen with their corflutes all along the Hinterland. Look out for women in orange T shirts handing out the message of Zonta. Chat with them about Zonta and give them your support.
